June 2021 Nonfiction Highlights...

Kennedy's Avenger

by Dan Abrams

"Two New York Times best-selling authors examine the story behind the bizarre trial of Jack Ruby, a Dallas nightclub owner who murdered Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, live on national television."

The Second

by Carol Anderson

"The New York Times best-selling author of White Rage investigates the history and impact of the Second Amendment, how it was designed, and how it has been constructed from the start to keep African Americans powerless and vulnerable."

Seeing Serena

by Gerald Marzorati

"Chronicles the global sports celebrity's return to tennis after giving birth to her daughter, and provides an insightful cultural analysis of the most consequential female athlete of her time."

We Are What We Eat

by Alice Waters

"From chef and food activist Alice Waters, an impassioned plea for a radical reconsideration of the way each and every one of us cooks and eats."

From the River to the Sea

by John Sedgwick

"The history of the greatest railroad war of all time, fought by the railway men behind the Santa Fe and Rio Grande railways as they raced to lay claim to the most profitable territory and silver mines."

The Heartbeat of Trees

by Peter Wohlleben

"Drawing on science and cutting-edge research, a renowned forester proves that, despite an era of cell phone addiction, climate change and urban life, the age-old ties linking humans to the forest remain alive and intact."

Nonfiction Author Spotlight: Tiya Miles

This Harvard University Professor of History and award-winning author specializes in African American and Native American studies.

Her latest book, All that She Carried: The Journey of Ashley's Sack, a Black Family Keepsake, is officially described as "a poignant story of resilience and of love passed down through generations of women against steep odds. It honors the creativity and fierce resourcefulness of people who preserved family ties even when official systems refused to do so, and it serves as a visionary illustration of how to reconstruct and recount their stories today."

Other works by Miles include:

Crossing Waters, Crossing Worlds: The African Diaspora in Indian Country

The Dawn of Detroit: A Chronicle of Slavery and Freedom in the City of the Straits

The House on Diamond Hill: A Cherokee Plantation Story

Tales from the Haunted South: Dark Tourism and Memories of Slavery from the Civil War Era

Ties That Bind: The Story of an Afro-Cherokee Family in Slavery and Freedom
