Fiction Author Spotlight: Ernest Cline

Ready Player One, Cline's debut novel, achieved critical acclaim for its dystopian storyline, which set readers on a futuristic adventure through a virtual reality populated by video game characters and icons popularized during the 80s and 90s.

In the upcoming sequel, Ready Player Two, "Wade Watts makes a discovery that changes everything." This discovery is "a technological advancement that will once again change the world and make the OASIS a thousand times more wondrous - and addictive - than even Wade dreamed possible."

Nonfiction Spotlight: Paul Farmer

This medical anthropologist, physician, and university professor is also "chair of the Department of Global Health and Social Medicine at Harvard Medical School, chief of the Division of Global Health Equity at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston" and a "cofounder and chief strategist of Partners in Health." His titles include:

Haiti: After the Earthquake

To Repair the World: Paul Farmer Speaks to the Next Generation

According to the publisher, his latest book, Fevers, Feuds, and Diamonds: Ebola and the Ravages of History, "tells the harrowing stories of Ebola victims while showing why the medical response was slow and insufficient. Rebutting misleading claims about the origins of Ebola and why it spread so rapidly, he traces West Africa's chronic health failures back to centuries of exploitation and injustice."

Also worth noting is the book Mountains Beyond Mountains by Tracy Kidder, which "follows the efforts of this unconventional Harvard physician to understand the world's great health, economic, and social problems and to bring healing to humankind."
